

PRIVACY POLICY AND YOUR PRIVACY RIGHTS

Hillwood Development Company, LLC, a Texas limited liability company, and its affiliates and subsidiaries (collectively the "Company") are the owners of the Pecan Square website (the "Website").

The Company appreciates that you may be concerned about the privacy of personal information that you provide to the Company through its Website. Accordingly, the Company has in place the following Privacy Policy. Please note that this Privacy Policy does not apply to any of the Company's offline practices for personal information you may provide to the Company through means other than its Website.

While the Company makes commercially reasonable efforts to secure the privacy of any information supplied by users of the Website, the Company does not guarantee the security of the information on and sent from the Website. No transmission of data over the internet is guaranteed to be completely secure. While commercially reasonable efforts are made to protect your personal information, the Company does not ensure or warrant the security of any information that is stored or transmitted to the Company over the internet.

Voluntary Information Provided by You: The Company collects certain personal information about you whenever you voluntarily provide it through the Company's Website, such as when you send an e-mail to ask a question, complete one of the Company's online forms to request information about the Company's operations, or to provide feedback to the Company. The personal information you provide can include such items as your name, title, company, e-mail and U.S. mail addresses, and your telephone and fax numbers. The Company uses this information provided by you to answer your questions, to provide the information you request, and to respond to your feedback. The Company may also provide other information to you that it thinks may be relevant to your question or request. The Company does not provide your personal information to third parties who do not have a business relationship with the Company, and the Company never sells your information. If the Company believes that your question or information request relates to one of its licensees, lessees, developers, partners, affiliates or other party who has business relationship with the Company, the Company may forward your question or information request to them so that they may respond directly to your inquiry or request. The Company may also disclose personal information to comply with valid legal processes such as a search warrant, subpoena, or court order, or to enforce and protect the Company's rights and property.

Emails: The Company's Website pages may contain an invitation to join an e-mail list. If you join an e-mail list on the Company's Website, you will be sent by e-mail certain updates and news relevant to the subject matter of the website. If at any time you no longer wish to receive these e-mails, instructions on how to unsubscribe from the e-mail list are set forth at the bottom of each e-mail. The Company does not sell or provide email lists to third parties for their marketing uses.

Mergers and Sale of Business: The Company reserves the right to transfer information, including without limitation personal information provided by you, to an affiliate or to a successor in the event of any reorganization, merger, sale, joint venture, assignment, transfer or disposition of all or any portion of the Company's business or operations.

Website Usage Information: The Company logs IP addresses and domain names and aggregates them for system administration and to monitor the use of the Company's websites. The Company does use this technical information to identify you personally. The Company uses this website usage information to measure the number of visits to its Website, the average time spent, the number of pages viewed, and to monitor various other site statistics. This monitoring helps the Company evaluate how its visitors use and navigate the Website, so that the Company can improve the Website and the content it provides. The Company does not sell this information and only uses these statistics for its internal business purposes. The Company reserves the right to make use of "cookies" on its Website. If you would like to know whether "cookies" are used on this Website, please send an email to webmaster@hillwood.com.

Links to other websites: The Company's Website contains links to the websites of other third parties that are not under the Company's control, which include those of our business partners and other sites with information that the Company feels may be useful to you. The Company is not responsible for the privacy practices, security or content of these other sites. Accordingly, the Company recommends that you review the privacy policies of these other sites.

Amendments to this Privacy Policy: The Privacy Policy may be revised by the Company from time to time. There is an Effective Date at the bottom of this Privacy Policy and the Effective Date will be updated when there has been a change. Accordingly, you should check the Effective Date on a regular basis for the most current Privacy Policy. Each time you access the Website, you signify your acceptance of the then-current Privacy Policies in effect.

Your California Privacy Rights: California Civil Code Section 1798.83, also known as the "Shine The Light" law, permits the Company's customers who are California residents to request and obtain from the Company once a year, free of charge, information about the personal information (if any) the Company disclosed to third parties for direct marketing purposes in the preceding calendar year. If applicable, this information would include a list of the categories of personal information that was shared and the names and addresses of all third parties with which the Company shared information in the immediately preceding calendar year. If you are a California resident and would like to make such a request, please submit your request in writing to:
